WANDERING TREES

In a remote yet unmistakable corner of northern Sardinia, the destinies of three families intertwine through love, conflict, and loss. After the mysterious disappearance of an animal rescuer, his son Giuliano sets out on a dreamlike search across a wounded landscape. Beneath this journey lies a meditation on childhood as a hidden territory preserved within us all: a place of wonder and protection, where the possibility of resisting the violence of the adult world still endures. DROWNING

Pietro and his autistic son, Jacopo, are traveling to Puglia when their car breaks down in a small town. Rescued by Oliviero, a local mechanic, they find temporary shelter with Agata, who runs a bar that once served as a guesthouse. As the days pass, Gaia, Agata's employee, grows close to Jacopo. Life in the town unfolds at a slow, suspended pace, as if everyone is waiting for something. But Pietro's journey turns out to be an excuse and a dramatic turn of events changes everything. THE HOME OF CHAMPIONS

Anyone who knows anything about running knows that the world's strongest runners come mostly from Kenya, but few know that all these champions train in the same village, lost in the Kenyan hinterland and the surrounding plateau, it's called Iten. Running in Kenya is more than just a sporting competition; it is an escape from poverty, a form of cultural expression and an opportunity to transform lives through discipline and sacrifice.
