DOCUMENTARY, HUMAN INTEREST, SOCIAL

ON THE BLUE WAY

The physical and spiritual adventure of 12 youngsters with autism and their psychiatrist who decided to walk 200 kilometers in 10 days along the via Francigena to reach Rome. For them this is a real adventure, they have to leave their comfort zone and face uncertainty. They have to adapt to the new environment of the hike and find a way to live together with the others, while discovering their independence. A path of personal growth, through thick and thin, fun, relationships, confrontations and falling in love.

Our journey as spectators, parallel to the protagonist's, will be a deep dive into the world of autism. We will delve into their stories, to tear apart the prejudices and preconceptions that wrongly surround these people.
