

UTOPOLIS

The silent struggle and systematic hate between Greek natives and refugees will lead to their brutal confrontation over the course of one night. As they get into a fight, they end up falling into a deep hole. We witness the clash between two men and discover their past and secrets. It seems like TIMUR and YANNIS find a solution to their problem, being trapped in a 6m deep hole and help each other get out. But prejudice prevails as they make their final attempt.
